

2020 Stay at Home READ A BOOK Fundraiser

Friends Reading List

Book Title	Author	Reader Comment
Ford Country	John Grisham
Sapiens	Yuval Noah Harari
8 Keys to Forgiveness	Robert Enright
Educated	Westover
The Last Star	Rick Yancey	My 13 year old niece and I are both reading it.
One of the many Martha Grimes books	Martha Grimes
Dare, Dream, Do	Whitney Johnson	I'm eager to read this book because I believe I can become better at all three of these things. I think they are all going to be crucial to my future!
Before and After	Judy Christie and Lisa Windgate	True life stories of Tennessee Children's Home Society adoptees. Inspired by the 2017 historical novel " Before We Were Yours. "
City of Girls	Elizabeth Gilbert	A wonderful book about women in New York City, 1940-1980, supporting and enriching one another in their life journeys and challenges.
The Splendid and the Vile	Erik Larson	Another amazing read by Erik Larson detailing Winston Churchill's first year as Prime Minister and highlighting family, friends and his "Secret Circle."
The Body	Bill Bryson
Relic (and 6 others by same authors)	Douglas Preston & Lincoln Child
The Paragon Hotel	Lyndsay Faye
Resisting Hitler: Mildred Harnack and The Red Orchestra	Shareen Brysac	Moving account, well researched account of the Harnacks restoring the reputation of these idealistic and heroic resisters.
Good Girls Lie	J T Ellison	A "you can't put it down" book, a thriller with lots of twists and turns.

The Giver of Stars	Jojo Moyes	Story of packhorse librarians delivering books to rural Kentucky inhabitants in the Depression era. Based on a true story. Very interesting and enjoyable read.
---------------------------	------------	---